

CASEMENT IN COURT TODAY FOR TREASON

LEGED INSTIGATOR OF SINN REBELLION IN IRELAND ARRAIGNED IN BOW STREET.

RUSH SUPPLIES AHEAD

Attorney General Tells Magistrate of Plans to Recruit Irish Prisoners in German Detention Camps.

London, May 15.—Sir Roger Casement, the supposed head and instigator of the Sinn Fein rebellion in Ireland, was arraigned today in Bow Street police court and charged with high treason.

Second Man Arraigned.—Spectators were surprised when a second prisoner was placed beside Casement in the docks. This man was Daniel Julian Bailey, a private soldier, living near London. Bailey was arraigned on a charge of high treason, on April 21. He was jointly charged with Casement with high treason, but his exact connection with the Sinn Feiners has not so far been made public.

Shortly after the magistrate had taken his seat, Casement and his fellow prisoner were shown into the dock. Casement's appearance was vastly different from that of the man who gained fame in 1912 by his exposure of cruelty practiced on natives in Patumayo by a British rubber company. He sat in the docks resting his chin on his hands, occasionally looking toward the magistrate. When the attorney general in opening the case for the prosecution mentioned the conferring of the order of knighthood on Casement, the prisoner dropped his head. The attorney general then outlined the prisoner's career.

Reviews Casement's Acts.—In opening the case for the crown the attorney general charged that Casement had conducted a systematic campaign among the Irish prisoners in Germany, with the purpose of seducing them from their allegiance. Bailey, he said, had been seduced in this manner and had made a statement explaining Casement's actions in detail. According to the attorney general, Bailey was born in Dublin and joined the Royal Irish Rifles in 1904. He served with his regiment in India and was honorably discharged. On the outbreak of the European war, Bailey was called out as a reservist and sailed with the original expeditionary force to France. He was taken prisoner in September, 1914.

The attorney general said Bailey had related how a large number of Irish prisoners had been collected from various prisons in Germany and placed in a large camp at which they heard addresses by Casement, who tried to inflame their minds against the British government and the British volunteers, and impressed upon the Irish prisoners in Germany the duty of going back to Ireland and joining the German army. These prisoners, who joined a brigade he was attempting to form, were promised by Casement, the attorney general asserted, that if they went to Berlin as guests of the German government, in the event that Germany won a sea battle, she would land the brigade in Ireland to defend that country against England, and if Germany lost the war, the German government would give each man ten to twenty pounds and free passage to America.

Plans to Take Ireland.—The attorney general said Casement described himself as an organizer of the Irish volunteers, and impressed upon the Irish prisoners in Germany the duty of going back to Ireland and joining the German army. These prisoners, who joined a brigade he was attempting to form, were promised by Casement, the attorney general asserted, that if they went to Berlin as guests of the German government, in the event that Germany won a sea battle, she would land the brigade in Ireland to defend that country against England, and if Germany lost the war, the German government would give each man ten to twenty pounds and free passage to America.

Exhibits Rebel Flag.—The attorney general here introduced a dramatic exhibit by having brought into the court a green rebel flag which he said Casement had brought from Germany to Ireland. For a moment the prisoner sat with eyes fixed on the flag, refusing to look at this emblem of the rebellion. Then he glanced up at the flag and smiled deviously. Most of the time during the attorney general's address he sat with his elbows on his knees, looking at the floor, a characteristic of the prisoner ever since his incarceration in the tower of London.

Appeared Oblivious of his surroundings, but occasionally he glanced quickly showing he was listening to proceedings notwithstanding his apparent inattention.

The first witness was John Robinson of Belfast, formerly a corporal in the royal army medical corps, who was one of the prisoners taken to Germany in the early stages of the war, and recently was released. He said that 4,000 Irish prisoners gathered at Lemburg to hear Casement and between fifty and sixty joined the Irish brigade.

FOURTH YOUNG MAN MAKES GUILTY PLEA

Robert Hogan Along With Three Others to Receive Sentence Tomorrow Morning Before Judge Maxfield.

Robert Hogan, the fourth young man wanted by the police for the theft of property at the Y. M. C. A. was arraigned before Judge Maxfield in the municipal court this morning, to answer to a complaint charging grand larceny. Hogan is charged on a joint complaint with Roland Schenk of the theft of two watches, valued at $102, from William Smith.

Hogan was represented by his mother—and a better attorney he could not have had. When the police investigation started this young man went to Milwaukee and started working there. The police here informed the Milwaukee department that the youth wanted was in Milwaukee, but they did not apprehend him. Last week the mother learned that her son was implicated, and having a sense of right and wrong, went into Milwaukee and brought him to Janesville to answer the charge. Hogan stated this morning that he was coming back anyway, but at least the mother saw to it that he did come to Janesville to clear up the trouble.

A plea of guilty was made to the charge by Hogan. He waived his right to an examination, as the charge is punishable by a state's prison term. He then signed a petition for immediate sentence. The court adjourned his case over until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, when the other three youths, Roland Schenk, Theodore Davy and Robert Kenning are scheduled to appear for sentence. Schenk is charged with grand larceny and the other two with petit larceny.

It is understood that a settlement has been made by the parents of the youths, who are not being held in custody on this fact to date. If the loss has been made good, it does not effect the charge except so much as the court takes it into consideration. Hogan stated this morning that he paid does not excuse or lighten the offense unless the court magistrate sees fit to reduce the charge against Hogan and Schenk to lighten or suspend sentence.

Drives Made Near Hullock in Northern France Repulsed.—Still Fighting at Dead Man's Hill.

Berlin, May 15.—The British have been attacking the German lines near Hullock in northern France in an effort to recapture the trenches recently taken by the Germans there, but all their attempts have been repulsed, according to today's statement by the war office.

In the Verdun region the French failed in attacks near Dead Man's Hill and near the Callette wood.

Paris, May 15.—The bombardment near Avocourt wood and Hill 304, in the Verdun section, still continues, according to today's official statement. Calm is reported on the rest of the front.

BURN NEGRO YOUTH IN PUBLIC SQUARE

Boy After Confessing to Murdering White Woman, Taken From Court Room and Burned at Stake.

Waco, Texas, May 15.—Jess Washington, negro boy, who confessed to criminal assault and murder of Mrs. Lucy Pryor, seven miles south of here last Monday, was taken from district court room shortly before noon today and burned to death on public square.

The burning came immediately after the negro's trial had ended and after the jury had returned a verdict of guilty giving him death penalty.

Someone not far from the negro started the cry of "Get the negro." It was taken up by all of those from that part of the country, where Mr. Pryor was killed, and Washington was then removed from the court room.

The mob at first seemed willing to hang the negro from the suspension bridge, but a suggestion that he be burned on the public square met with response, and he was dragged to the city hall yard where a chain already around his neck, was thrown over the limb of the tree, wood secured and fastened.

When flames had subsided somewhat, some in the mob cut off the negro's fingers and other parts of his body.

LOAN ASSOCIATION AS WORKMAN'S AID TO BE CONSIDERED

Commercial Club Will Investigate Easy Payment Home Erection Plan—Surprise for Directors.

The development and survey committee of the Janesville Commercial club this noon was instructed to inquire locally as to the advisability of a building and loan association and also to secure facts as to what local firms and companies are doing co-operatively with home buildings as regards periodical payments on the homes erected for the latter.

That the time was opportune for this consideration was the general opinion of the board. Instances were cited to show that had such a corporation existed in the city, it would have kept a large number of skilled workmen here during the past six or eight months. Through the absence of a building and loan association, which would have advanced working capital funds with which to own homes locally, which no doubt would have been more of an inducement to keep these men in the city against overtures in the form of strikes for increases in city and Janesville manufacturers have lost families and valuable and skilled laborers. Robert Butwick of the development and survey committee was instructed to inquire into the matters and report a week from today.

H. H. Bliss of the promotion committee sprung a surprise on the board when he informed them of having located a small factory in the city this morning. There were still further surprised when they learned of the nature of the proposition.

Bliss explained that the new factory consumes eight tons of milk curds daily in a secret process to secure a case, a proteid, the leading nitrogenous element of milk, which coagulates by the action of acids, or acids, when it takes the form of curd and forms the principal ingredient in cheese. C. A. Reimer, who is in charge of the plant, has a commission from a large Chicago firm. The demand for curds is far greater than the supply, making a market for every ounce of production.

Aside from being a cheese ingredient the curds are extensively used in the manufacture of ice cream. It has as wide a diversified range as have coal-tar by-products.

It is used in the manufacture of imitation marble, imitation ivory, Persian ivory, etc. It is used in ship building to cover the bottoms of vessels to eliminate fouling with barnacles and other such hull troubles as are commonly experienced by ship owners.

Mr. Reimer, with ovens and heaters, through a secret process gets the curds. It is thought that the plant has large possibilities and the report was highly favorable to the club. He has leased a portion of the Thoroughbred box factory storehouse on North Main street.

Treasurer Amos Rehberg reported that $5,810 of the money subscribed to the curd factory fund had been paid in this far. It is urged that all who have not as yet forwarded their subscription to do so immediately. The money was pledged for payment a week ago today.

It was announced at the meeting that practically all arrangements had been made for the curd campaign to be held in the county May 23.

SAYS HE OBTAINED LIQUOR ON SUNDAY AT S. JANESVILLE

Prisoner Up for Drunkenness Tells Court That He Got Whiskey at South Janesville Bar-Room Yesterday.

When John Beandry was arraigned before Judge H. L. Maxfield in the municipal court this morning, the court learned some "interesting" facts regarding one of the hottest spots at South Janesville from the prisoner. Beandry is from Rockford and was arrested Sunday for drunkenness by a patrolman. Nothing was known about the man by the police, and, as he is a stranger here, he did not know any facts regarding the previous prosecution of the alleged resort.

Beandry first pleaded guilty to the intoxicated prisoner for a few minutes. Every defendant arrested for drunkenness on Sunday is asked the same question and for once, the court would have a man who was honest enough to make unreserved statements. Beandry informed Judge Maxfield he got whiskey at a bar room of the hotel at South Janesville Sunday and was drinking it at the name of the place, said it was the second hotel from the interurban station. If he is correct it is the place now owned by Williams, who, it is said, purchased the property in a prosecution against the hotel for illegal sale of liquor. Shortly after the case against William Vogel was taken to the circuit court from the municipal court, the examination, the district attorney started proceedings to close up the hotel of brick structure at South Janesville, but, before the papers had been filed, the hotel was closed and the new liquor license was taken out by a man named Williams.

There were four other men in court for drunkenness. This quartet was arrested Sunday at the Chicago and Northwestern railroad station by Patrolman Smith. Thomas O'Brien, of Gary, Indiana, pleaded guilty and was fined ten dollars and costs or fifteen days. The other three, Thomas Foley, Dan McCarthy and Ben Dixon, pleaded guilty and their cases were adjourned for next Monday. All three did not furnish bail and were committed to the county jail.

DRAINAGE DISTRICT SOUGHT IN EDGERTON

Petitioners Desiring Protection From Saunders Creek Floods Present Case in Grimm's Court.

A number of Edgerton property owners were represented in circuit court today in a petition for the establishment of the Saunders Creek drainage district for the purpose of strengthening the channels of the stream and undertaking other improvements which will lessen the possibilities of further property damage in the event of floods. It was contended that the stream had overflowed its banks sufficiently to do much property damage five times within two years. The flood of September 1915, was especially severe. George G. Guthrie, of this city, was attorney for the petitioners and Jeffers, Moust, Oestreich and Avery handled the defendants' side. There were several remonstrators present in court, voice their objections to the proposed changes.

Judge Grimm appointed E. C. Hopkins, Andrew McIntosh and W. B. Wentworth, all of Edgerton, as a commission of three to inquire into the feasibility of the proposed drainage ditch. Upon their findings will rest the result of the suit.

LACK TROOPS TO CONTINUE WITH CHASE

LANGHORNE HALTS CHASE OF GLENN SPRINGS BANDITS TO AWAIT REINFORCEMENTS.

HIS CAREER OUTLINED

Supplies Being Transferred to Colonel Sibley's Expedition Which Will Bolster Line of Communication.

Lake Itasca, Mexico, May 14, wireless to Columbus, May 15.—Three bandits, including Julio Cardenas, the Villista leader, were killed in a skirmish with an American detachment near Rubio ranch, twenty miles east of here, today.

Marathon, Tex., May 15.—The expedition in search of bandits who committed the Glenn Springs outrage has checked its dash into Mexico and is now awaiting reinforcements before pushing on, according to reports received here today. A message has been sent to General Fuston by Colonel Sibley, commanding the fourteenth cavalry, it was learned here, asking for aid.

Military observers here point out that Major Langhorne and his flying squadron of eighth cavalry are now perhaps two hundred miles beyond their base, without sufficient troops to protect their line of communication. Marathon, the base, is ninety miles from Boquillas, over broken country. Several instances have been reported the past few days of bandits cutting in behind the expedition without meeting armed resistance.

Rush Supplies Forward.—Supplies of every character are now being rushed from Marathon to Boquillas, where the bandits are expected. Mexican teamsters are engaged in this work, under Captain John S. Chambers of the quartermaster's department. The Mexican prisoners brought into Marathon by Sheriff Shoemaker from Boquillas, will be sent to Alpine for trial for murder.

Denies Complicity in Raids

New York, May 15.—Antonio L. Villa, Mexican statesman, who declared himself "presona non grata," with both Carranza and Villa, and that he is a political refugee in the United States because of his efforts to maintain national honor and dignity in his native country, issued a statement here today denying any participation in recent raids along the Mexican border.

Appleton, Wis., May 15.—That the United States has no intention of pulling out of Mexico in the near future, is evident from the shipment of eighteen thousand feed-drug trucks which left Clintonville today with a full load of drivers and mechanics whose contract calls for six months' service in the transportation department on the border.

Fifteen drivers and mechanics were picked up here and at Menasha yesterday to accompany the trucks which left Clintonville on a special train.

SPRING FOOTBALL

CALL IS FAILURE

Boys at High School Fail to Appear When Football Meeting is Called Friday.

Little interest was shown by the boys of the high school when the call for a spring football meeting was issued last Friday afternoon by E. B. Keck. No one appeared for the meeting, and now it is doubtful whether there will be any football at the high school next fall. "It will be left entirely in the hands of the students," said Mr. Shearer this morning, "and unless they make a call for it no games will be scheduled with other high schools."

Already the athletic board have received letters from other high schools asking for games next fall. All these were rejected for the present and no games will be arranged for unless the students at the school will work up a little enthusiasm to get enough fellows out for practice so that a good team might be possible. If there will be no team next year, it will be the first time in many years that Janesville has not had football.

OPTIMISM SHOWN IN PRESENT CAMPAIGN

JEFFRIS AND PHILIPP TO WAGE A SCIENTIFIC, STEADY WAR.

THE PEOPLE TO RULE

Final Appeal to the Voters Will Be Started As Soon As It Is Possible to Organize the Campaign.

This is one of a series of articles on politics written exclusively for the Gazette.

By Old Politics.

Perhaps of all the fullness of the present state administration and consummation of the men who would tear down the structure that is being built from the ruins of the ultra-progressive regime, it is not, perhaps, for the present campaign is over I will have much to say to you one way or another. I am not a pessimist, but an optimist. I can see the hole in the doughnut without my glasses and know the value of that hole. Perhaps you do not, so let me introduce it to you. The old fashioned rickshaw or modern doughnut, had no hole. It was egg, unwholesome morsel, but an enterprising Yankee seacock discovered that by making a hole in its very center he saved dough enough to make more rickshaws and also, strange to say, they tasted better. It was an optimist, and I am of the same caliber.

We Need Optimists.—I tell you right now we need optimists in the republican party in Wisconsin right now. With everything going at sixes and sevens for years past, some sort of order being instituted into the affairs of state by careful business judgment by the present administration, were it not for the fact that the "tax eaters" still insist they are the saviors of the party, we might be happy.

However, there remains an element that is never satisfied. The men who always seek to be on the winning side, who spoils alone or at least for distribution of the spoils. They are not content to let the people rule, but want a finger in the political pie themselves, and if they can not rule they will ruin.

The Tax Eaters.—To this class of citizens belong the tax eaters. They have held sway so long under the primary election law, the law that was created by the people to trust the "bosses" and really saddled themselves with the political "Old Man of the Sea," that they feel any other sort of a citizen who disagrees with them is absolutely wrong. Perhaps they are, but I think the average voter will go far for the man who will give them cheaper taxes, a dollar's worth of the goods for every dollar expended and nothing left over to feather the nest of the ultra-progressives who wish to exploit the "Wisconsin Idea."

We need optimists. We need men who will go out on the firing line for the "Wisconsin Idea," the conservative nomination, and for Emanuel L. Philipp, the prospective conservative candidate for governor, and the whole conservative ticket including the legislative ticket.

The Real Test.—You might elect Jeffris United States senator. You might elect Philipp governor, but your right would have been merely a half gained victory if you do not elect a conservative republican legislature. Mark my words, this is the crucial test of the whole campaign; that the legislature will be made up of men who will not be driven out of the state by the tax eaters, but who will have no part or parcel in the mature deliberations of the laws that are to be enacted. They must not have strength enough to block good legislation, hinder its passage by quibbles through combinations with democratic members.

We know the democrats of the Aylward-Husting-Davies stripe are all of the same caliber as the ultra-progressive republicans. They have shown in the past legislature they could not be depended upon and voted with the progressives times without number. No use to count on them. The tax eaters know no party lines. They will emasculate any bill that comes up if they can by this means win a victory in the end on some other measure they consider important.

The Legislature.—The legislature is really the fighting ground to be won. I trust Jeffris will be nominated and elected. He should be. I have strong hopes that Philipp will be re-nominated and elected. I hope the conservatives will carry with them their state ticket, but the fighting ground is the legislature and the members be elected to the senate and assembly.

Do not overlook this in making out your list of candidates. Do not pick out a man for an office in the assembly or senate who would be a good fellow, but look closely at his record before you endorse him and be sure he stands for what you stand for. I take it that you stand for a business administration of state affairs and a reduction of taxes. Am I right? If so keep it up by sending good men to Madison next winter.

Sees Connection.—Perhaps one of my ancestors sailed with that old

Yankee cock who made the first hole in the doughnut and thereby saved mankind from dyspepsia and all sorts of evils, but at any rate I can see that the voters of Wisconsin have a rare chance to rid themselves of the "Old Man of the Sea" who climbed on their shoulders, increased the state taxes and votes with the democrats at Washington, if they nominate and elect Emanuel L. Philipp.

He is what I call a "brae fighting man," and he combines in his lines of ancestry the Scotch, the Irish and above all the American strain, that has taken this flag to the North Pole and to all points of the globe. It is not a question of pro-allos or pro-central powers with him; it is pro-American first, last and always.

Old Patrick Henry, back in the Virginia days, might have said the motto of Jeffris when he voiced his sentiment: "Give me liberty or give me death." Later we might have heard of congress during the question of paying tribute to the Algerians. "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." These are American sentiments of past decades and Jeffris utters them today when he says of the Polish situation as he did at Madison in the following language:

"There is an additional feature in the settlement of the European war which many of us would like to see developed. We hope that Poland may be rehabilitated. There is a great country, inhabited by a splendid people—a people who are an honest and industrious people, a nation which has produced many men of genius along the lines of literature, science and the arts. It is a crime that that great nation should be torn limb from limb and its people made subject to other nations of different languages, beliefs and customs. No rich settlement can be made until Poland be again re-nationalized and be turned over to the Poles and allow them to develop along their own lines. Poland is a great nation and take their place as one of the great nations of the world."

But further.—Of course Jeffris is the only republican candidate thus far out for an office in the avowed sense that comes under the conservative banner. However, Governor Philipp has practically announced he will be a candidate for renomination and among his close followers are men who will make the race for the various state offices so you have a nucleus to work with. Then all your legislative candidates, and go to it.

It is going to be a contest to Philipp. He has been too honest and too clear a governor to suit the "tax eaters." He knows too much of the iniquitous methods of escape destruction if possible, every citizen, regardless of any political affiliation, must rally to his defense.

Shortly I am going to take up the democratic situation and discuss it if I may.

Yankee cock who made the first hole in the doughnut and thereby saved mankind from dyspepsia and all sorts of evils, but at any rate I can see that the voters of Wisconsin have a rare chance to rid themselves of the "Old Man of the Sea" who climbed on their shoulders, increased the state taxes and votes with the democrats at Washington, if they nominate and elect Emanuel L. Philipp.

He is what I call a "brae fighting man," and he combines in his lines of ancestry the Scotch, the Irish and above all the American strain, that has taken this flag to the North Pole and to all points of the globe. It is not a question of pro-allos or pro-central powers with him; it is pro-American first, last and always.

Old Patrick Henry, back in the Virginia days, might have said the motto of Jeffris when he voiced his sentiment: "Give me liberty or give me death." Later we might have heard of congress during the question of paying tribute to the Algerians. "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." These are American sentiments of past decades and Jeffris utters them today when he says of the Polish situation as he did at Madison in the following language:

"There is an additional feature in the settlement of the European war which many of us would like to see developed. We hope that Poland may be rehabilitated. There is a great country, inhabited by a splendid people—a people who are an honest and industrious people, a nation which has produced many men of genius along the lines of literature, science and the arts. It is a crime that that great nation should be torn limb from limb and its people made subject to other nations of different languages, beliefs and customs. No rich settlement can be made until Poland be again re-nationalized and be turned over to the Poles and allow them to develop along their own lines. Poland is a great nation and take their place as one of the great nations of the world."

But further.—Of course Jeffris is the only republican candidate thus far out for an office in the avowed sense that comes under the conservative banner. However, Governor Philipp has practically announced he will be a candidate for renomination and among his close followers are men who will make the race for the various state offices so you have a nucleus to work with. Then all your legislative candidates, and go to it.

It is going to be a contest to Philipp. He has been too honest and too clear a governor to suit the "tax eaters." He knows too much of the iniquitous methods of escape destruction if possible, every citizen, regardless of any political affiliation, must rally to his defense.

Shortly I am going to take up the democratic situation and discuss it if I may.

Joe says:

"No use talkin' to me about any other tobacco, 'cause they ain't no other like NIGGER HAIR. I've tried lots of 'em an' I know. They's none smokes as slow, an' cool an' fragrant in my pipe, like those long, curly, silky strands of good old NIGGER HAIR tobacco. That's the way thousands of men feel about NIGGER HAIR. Nothing can switch them from this famous old brand.

NIGGER HAIR gives complete enjoyment and healthful satisfaction all day long, all year 'round, year after year.

NIGGER HAIR

Long Cut Tobacco

is all ripe, mild Burley leaf, made rich and sweet and mellow by careful ageing and blending—made slow-burning and cool-smoking by cutting into long, curly shreds of fragrant tobacco. This distinctive, curly Long Cut gave the brand its name many years ago.

Never mind what brand you're using now. Just give NIGGER HAIR a week's trial—smoke it and chew it steady, day after day—and you'll admit you've found a better tobacco in NIGGER HAIR.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO CO.

really can do in the way of scurrying. The exhibition in one form or another, will continue until November 1.

The official program provides for fleet and divisional exercises off the North Atlantic coast in the vicinity of Newport, together with a war game in conjunction with the army July 3 to 20.

Target practice will be held on the southern drill grounds from September 1 to 30, after which the fleet will be scattered to the home ports for docking and minor repairs.

Beginning today the battleships of the fleet will operate singly for steaming trials and similar individual operations, after which, on May 20, the divisions of the fleet will assemble as follows:—

The battleship Wyoming and first division at Tompkinsville, the second division in the North River, the third division at Rockport and the fourth division at Newport.

After divisional exercises lasting for five days the divisions will return to these bases, except that the flagship and first division will go to Hampton Roads instead of Tompkinsville.

Various Tactics.

Beginning on June 3 divisional exercises will again be held, the battleships again returning to these bases on June 10, on which date the flagship and the first division will return to Tompkinsville.

After five days spent in divisional exercises, from June 12 to June 17, the entire fleet will reassemble at Newport from June 19 to July 1.

The week from July 1 to 8 will be spent in the usual Fourth of July calls at Atlantic coast ports for local celebrations.

On July 8 the battleships will again mobilize at Narragansett Bay, and July 10 will spend a five day period in fleet exercises.

Returning to Narragansett Bay on July 15, the next four weeks will be spent at anchor for machinery overhauling, ship drills and inspections, with the exception of five days from July 24 to 29, when the divisions will operate in a war game in an assigned area. Torpedo exercises will also be held, and the mining division and destroyers will engage in joint exercises.

Depend on New York.

One division of destroyers will cooperate with the army in joint operations in testing the defenses of Eastern New York.

Tactical exercises of the fleet will begin again on August 7 and will continue until August 12, when the battleships will return to Narragansett Bay for machinery overhauling, ship drills, coaling and provisions and conferences at the Naval War College preparatory to strategic maneuvers from August 20 to September 1, when the entire fleet will proceed to the southern drill grounds for target practice until September 30, when the fleet will disperse to the home ports.

The mining division of the fleet will assemble in North River on May 15 and will cruise and engage in exercises on May 22 off New Haven, on June 1 of Provincetown and on June 5 off Plymouth, Mass.

After a brief call at Boston this mining division will continue its exercises off Salem, Cape Ann, Gloucester and Rockport until July 1. The Vestal and Solace will base on Newport and will move according to the needs of the fleet.

The vessels of the active destroyer flotilla upon the completion of repairs will make a reconnaissance of the New England coast, after which they will assemble at Gardiner's Bay and prepare to participate in the fleet operations in Narragansett Bay.

The active flotilla will hold target practice in Narragansett Bay from September 1 to November 1. The reserve destroyer flotilla will continue on neutrality, aviation and naval militia duty.

From July 1 to August 30 summer submarine exercises will be held from the base at New York, during which torpedo practice, quarterly engineering runs and oscillator tests will be held.

The cruiser squadron of the Atlantic fleet will continue police and patrol duty and will join in the fleet operations and target practice as opportunity presents.

No schedule of ducking and overhauling is prescribed by the Navy department because of the uncertainty of their periods of service.

COMMON AMERICAN BIRDS

INTERESTING INFORMATION ABOUT THEM
SUPPLIED BY THE BUREAU OF BIOLOGICAL SURVEY OF THE UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

SONG SPARROW

Melospiza melodia

Length, about six and one-fourth inches. The heavily spotted breast with heavy central blotch is characteristic.

Range: Breeds in the United States (except the South Atlantic and gulf states), southern Canada, southern Alaska, and Mexico; winters in Alaska, and most of the United States southward.

Habits and economic status: Like the familiar little "chippy," the song sparrow is one of our most domestic species, and builds its nest in hedges or in garden shrubbery close to houses, whenever it is reasonably safe from the house cat, which, however, takes heavy toll of the nestings. It is a true harbinger of spring, and its delightful little song is trilled forth from the top of some green shrub in early March and April, before most of our other songsters have thought of leaving the sunny South. Song sparrows vary much in habits, as well as in size and coloration. Some forms live along streams bordered by deserts, others in timbered regions, others on rocky barren hillsides, and still others in rich, fertile valleys. With such a variety of habitat, the food of the species naturally varies considerably. About three-fourths of its diet consists of the seeds of noxious weeds and one-fourth of insects. Of these, beetles, especially weevils, constitute the major portion. Ants, wasps, bugs (including the black olive scale), and caterpillars are also eaten. Grasshoppers are taken by the eastern birds, but not by the western ones.

Obituary notices are printed free of charge except those announcing an event for which a charge is to be made. The Gazette does not knowingly accept false or fraudulent notices or obituary notices of an objectionable nature. Every advertisement in this column is printed on the understanding that the advertiser is responsible for the truth of the representations made. Readers of The Gazette will confer a favor if they will promptly report any failure on the part of an advertiser to make good any representation contained in a Gazette advertisement.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?
Parents are brought face to face with the question of responsibility of their children's future by the sad happenings of the past few days when several young men have been arraigned in court for petty larceny and others have had a cloud cast over their future by having their names mentioned in this connection. Morally, the parents of every child under age is responsible for their actions. Too often the attention of this important feature of their character forming age is lost sight of in the general assurance that they will know right from wrong and keep to the right.

Do you fathers and mothers know where your children spend their spare time from school hours? Do you know how they spend the money you give them for recreation? Do you know who their companions are, who their confidants are? Do you take a personal daily interest in their goings and comings? Do you make your home the meeting place for your boy or girl where they can entertain their friends? Do you take your boy or your girl into your confidence, explaining to them things that should be explained to every growing boy and girl? If not you are remiss.

We bring into this life our progeny. We are responsible for them. They may inherit weaknesses that can be overcome. They may inherit tastes that should be guarded against. It is the parents' duty to watch over them. The birds of the air, the beasts of the field, teach their young, why not mankind? Do not spoil the boy or girl with indulgences. Do not make them an object of envy of their less fortunate companions by giving them too good clothes and excess of spending money. It leads to temptations on the part of others.

There is such a thing as a middle class way of life. No matter how well equipped with this world's riches your parents may be thinking of the future. Think of the companions of your boys and girls and think that perhaps your over-indulgence, brought about by love and pride, may lead to bitter pills of remorse some day.

There is no question that the boys implicated in the sad occurrences of the past few days have been brought up in homes where every care and attention was given them, but yet something was lacking and they fell by the wayside. It is a sad lesson, but perhaps it may save others from similar false steps. Perhaps it may wake other parents to something they are remiss in. Make your boy, your girl, your confidant, your fathers and mothers, and note the results. Be their companions. Be part of their life and see the results.

Let your children know your home is their home for themselves and their companions. Let them feel that you are their best friend and that in you they have someone in whom they can confide and counsel with. Do not make them fearful of you; make them your closest friends and save them perhaps from some of the temptations that you yourself may have fallen into because your parents did not do the same by you.

MOUNTAIN VS. MOUSE.
The bill creating the federal trade commission was signed on September 26, 1914, and that organization has been in existence nearly twenty months. The enactment of this law was urged very strongly by President Wilson, who insisted that there was not a day to be lost in putting this legislation into effect. He declared that such a body was needed to put an end to the unfair methods of competition that were a part of the business world of the United States and to prevent anything that tended to monopoly. In view of the urgency with which the bill was pressed by the administration there was a general feeling that this commission would be exceedingly active and would take steps to determine and regulate all matters pertaining to unfair competition, and that through its work there would be a destruction of what has been held up as domestic monopoly. During the past twenty months, however, the federal trade commission almost passed from the minds of the people. It became almost a memory. It has just made its first appearance before the public and, strange to say, not in the role of a monopoly destroyer or a guardian of the Sherman law, but as an advocate of combinations, and with a demand for the amendment of the Sherman law to promote such combinations. It is true that the commission desires to have legalized combinations for the promotion of foreign trade. In other words, the commission, after twenty months' investigation, has arrived at one point of determination and that is, that American trade is hampered by the prohibition of the Sherman law forbidding combinations or associations to promote such trade. There is not a doubt in the world that the conclusion at which the commission has arrived, after twenty months, is sound and logical. The commission finds that other nations enjoy marked advantages in foreign trade from superior facilities and more effective organizations. That is true; it is what the republican party has contended for years, and that is why republicans have stood firm for a tariff law which would equalize this handicap.

The commission has not said a word about domestic combinations, or unfair competition, but the effect of its decision is, that an act that is illegal, if done in the course of domestic business, is right and proper if done in the course of foreign trade. What is combination at home, and therefore suspicious, becomes co-operation, and therefore commendable, abroad. A curious thing about this sudden activity of the commission is the complete elimination of the original ideas which induced its creation, and the purposes set forth by the administration, are apparently forgotten and entirely neglected. The serious condition which necessitated the immediate creation of the federal trade commission has not thus far materialized; while, on the other hand, the commission's first important act is to attempt to legalize in foreign trade the very things which the president appeared to think made for a serious condition in domestic trade. Twenty months is a very substantial time in which to put into effect the machinery of a commission which at the time of its creation was supposed to be a necessity of grave emergency. The democratic party took great credit to itself on the creation of the federal trade commission, but it is doubtful if it will make a point in the coming campaign of pointing with pride to the record of achievement of this particular body. Still the commission has accomplished something. The mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse.

CIVIC NEEDS.
Janesville really needs a civic center such as would be established by the opening of a rest room as planned by the ladies of the City Federation. One great trouble thus far encountered is to obtain a location suitable for such a building. It is not the easiest thing in the world to find a vacant store in a location that would meet all demands. However the ladies have undertaken a worthy cause, have met with fairly liberal response from the citizens generally and it is to be hoped they will obtain the requisite building without undue delay.

The "rest room" would not be simply a rest room, but also a free employment agency, a place where the young girls employed throughout the city, who are boarding or rooming, could meet and enjoy a social half hour. Where tired mothers who are shopping with children could go to refresh themselves and where strangers could find a welcome and be given directions to various parts of the city if desired.

The ladies have been most diligent in their labor of love and deserve the whole credit for the final result which will mean so much for the community as a whole. It was not an easy task they volunteered for and that success should crown their efforts is most gratifying and speaks well for the city as a whole, which is constantly being combed for contributions for this or that public affair which can only be carried on by contributions.

WORLD TOSY-TURVY.
The political world has gone topsy-turvy. No one knows just what is going to happen in Chicago and the general public is simply waiting while the national republican committee marks time and prepares to ring up the curtain for the greatest republican convention that has ever been held. No use to foretell what is to occur for no man knows. The "old guard" hope against a stampede, but such things may happen even in the best regulated of families when twins are born and but one expected. The ultra-progressives hope the old guard will not control and they will be given an opportunity, and the real conservative trust that the men mentioned for nomination will be approved. The American people are a funny race. They often desire a change but this year they look to the republicans to nominate a man for president so they can vote for him, for if they do not they will vote the democratic ticket even if "watchful waiting" Woodrow Wilson is renominated. Meanwhile the world, politically, is topsy-turvy.

THE ACID TEST.
There is going to be an acid test applied to candidates for both state, national and county offices by the voters this coming campaign, and that is allegiance to the doctrines of true republicanism and not of any hyphenated republican-democratic breed. Support of the man who is a republican for office and a democrat in office is not going to be any winning credential for any aspirant for county office, nor for a state elective legislative office. Some men might win on their merits in an off year, but this year the brand of political servitude they wear is going to be closely inspected by the voter who realizes that he is jeopardizing his own personal interests if he makes any mistakes that are based on mere sentiment. It is going to be an acid test and demanded of candidates for various offices and they will do well to prepare for it and be able and willing to answer any questions that may be asked them.

THE POOL ROOMS.
The young students, some of them but high school boys, who have been suspected of taking part in the thefts at the Y. M. C. A., are all graduates of the pernicious pool room and cigar store loafing habit. Unfortunately for Janesville there is apparently no restriction of these places where games of chance are permitted, cards played and the youths spend much more money than their parents can supply them with and are thus turned to other channels for their needs. To continue their career of "good fellows" there are state laws and city ordinances relative to these same pool and cigar rooms but they have become dead letters and it is only when something of the present nature arises that they are recalled. Too bad that we must always look the barn door after the horse is stolen.

There are plenty of enthusiastic young men in Janesville who would like to join a military company for drill purposes if for nothing else. If Janesville which was represented in the national guard by two companies for many years and later by one, can not muster a good sized enlistment roll of a hundred or so members, it should hide its head in shame. One company is in process of formation. It is to be hoped it will be successful and the Gazette bespeaks the good graces of the power that be to see a militia corps established in the Bowler City once more.

Why send diplomatic notes to Germany and England about their action on the high seas in restraint of commerce when American citizens are being killed by the Mexicans just a few miles across the border and the flag of the United States is defiled by the rank and file of our sister republic. It is really laughable if it were not too solemn a problem to laugh over.

It is barely possible that England will see fit to establish home rule in Ireland at this time. There are hundreds of thousands of loyal Irish soldiers in the trenches in France and the lowlands and in recognition of their gallant service perhaps the Old Lady of Threadneedle street will see fit to offer something in return for services rendered.

Why not put down all the sidewalks that were ordered constructed last fall by the council? Why delay in condemning old and dilapidated wooden, tar and, the Lord knows what construction walks?

On the Spur of the Moment
ROY K. MOULTON

The Baseball Hero.
Though he is short on parlor etiquette and cuts peas with his knife. Though he couldn't dance a two-step or waltz to save his life, He's the idol of adoring throngs of misses just the same, For he hits up near 300 in the great and only game.

With the parlor conversation he's as mum as any clump, But he's idolized as much as any William Paversham. He's as innocent of grammar as Joe Billings' cat could be, But he's never missed a grounder when 'twas needed, don't you see.

He is very short on Ibsen. Never heard of Henry James. If you'd speak to him of Maeterlinck he'd ask how many games Maeterlinck had ever played in. He is mighty shy on love, But with three men on the bases he can pound out hits galore.

He has got a country mansion and a bangup touring car, And he travels round the country like grand opera's greatest star. He makes all the other idols look prosaic, quiet, and tame, For he is the season's hero in the great and only game.

Uncle Abner.
If all the loafers in this country had to go to work there probably wouldn't be enough work to go around. Straw votes show which way the hot air blows.

Any feller who thinks that horses are going out of style ought to try and buy one. So far as I am concerned, I would rather have a good horse and lot than an automobile, but I am some old-fashioned.

It is gradually gettin' so it ain't no sure sign of the millennium to see a preacher smokin' a cigar or goin' to a show. There are a lot of good points about Elmer Spink's new job. He is selling barbed wire.

Red Peters says the high cost of livin' don't mean a figger with the feller who raises his own buckwheat and maple syrup.

Anse Judson says when his daughter is travelin' she kin carry twelve complete changes in costume in a leather handbag. Clothes don't take up so much room as they used to, but they cost just as much, if not more.

Men will never catch up with women in the good old art of sewing off a board with a pair of shears or a razor.

When a feller has got to have a lot of credit for every thing he does, it is a cinch that he never does very much.

It must be tough for an actor to join a stock company and have to travel around with a lot of sheep, cows and horses.

It's easy to accumulate money in this country. After a feller gets his first million there's nothing to it. Long flowin' whiskers used to be a sign of great knowledge, but now they are a sign that a feller ain't got no chin.

The railroad has built a side track at our village so the fast train kin run on it and wait for the passengers to come.

"Gee, Bill, your straw hat is a class. I had one like it nine years ago."
"My wife never has to ask me for money."
"When I move to New York I want you to come and see me. I'm going to live there when I get rich."

Nothing remained save to send a diplomatic emissary to Widow Feenits. For after the explosion not a trace of poor Feenits could be found except the mole from his right cheek.

"Good afternoon, Mrs. Feenits," began Dan Needles, Boomtown's famous diplomatic blaster. "I'm afraid its going to rain, and perhaps as long as that's the case you may as well prepare yourself for another unpleasant bit of news as well. Your husband has lost four of his toes, Mrs. Feenits."

"Tch! Tch!" regretfully chuckled Mrs. Feenits, who by nature always looked at the bright side of things. "In fact," went on Dan Needles, "he lost all eleven of his toes and one and a quarter legs."

"My, that's worse," commented Mrs. Feenits. "And two arms and chest and an ear," said Dan diplomatically. "Goodness, that is no laughing matter," sighed Mrs. Feenits. "And the other ear and everything in between," went on the diplomat.

"Dan," said Mrs. Feenits sharply, "tell me at once! Has anything serious happened?" "Read the papers, Widow Feenits," said Dan, and departed, unable to summo encourage to tell her the worst.

THAT TIRED FEELING
Relieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla, Which Renovates the Blood.

That tired feeling that comes to you in the spring, year after year, is a sign that your blood lacks vitality. Just as pimples, boils, and other eruptions are signs that it is impure; and it is also a sign that your system is in a low or run-down condition inviting disease. It is a warning, which it is wise to heed.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This old standard tried and true blood medicine relieves that tired feeling. It cleanses the blood, gives new life, new courage, strength and cheerfulness. It makes the rich red blood that will make you feel, look, eat and sleep better.

Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilla. It embodies the careful training, experience, and skill of Mr. Hood, a pharmacist for fifty years, in its quality and power to cure.

My Dentist Says I Have Pyorrhea

And that it is caused by uric acid; that it is constitutional, etc., and that nothing can be done."

Time and time again such statements have been made, all of which are now being absolutely and positively proven to be old fashioned and out of date, by hundreds of modern, progressive dentists.

When local irritation is removed, and the New School Treatments administered, it follows that a cure, or perfect comfort, is the result of such treatment.

No matter what phase of faulty metabolism exists in every case, if treated before the disease is so hopelessly developed, that the teeth are ready to drop from the mouth, the cure comes rapidly and certainly.

These old fashioned teachings, about uric acid, faulty metabolism, constitutional causes, etc., give to the innocent or honestly wavering Dentists a weak excuse to fold their hands and join the "nothing-can-be-done ranks."

The above is an extract from an address by the President of a Prominent College of Dentistry.

Former Efforts to Secure Injunctions Against Him Met With Uniform Failure.—Denies River Is Navigable.

Edwin F. Carpenter in his answer to the complaint of the State of Wisconsin in an action against him, George G. Sutherland and M. G. Jeffries and others for the alleged obstruction of navigation in the shape of buildings erected over Rock river along the Milwaukee street bridge, and to enjoin them from erecting further buildings, denies in the main the basis for the action, contending and sets forth that he has the permission of the state to build over Rock river on his property on the southern side of Milwaukee street, and that a supreme court decision sustaining the circuit court for Rock county in setting aside an injunction order against him with reference to building over Rock river, in this favor, Mr. Carpenter has secured. The case will probably come up for trial at the October term.

In connection with the supreme court decision which stands in this favor, Mr. Carpenter has secured the same matter was presented for litigation, the right to build over Rock river at the place in question, and he therefore "places the doctrine of State Decree and judicial decisions and both doctrines govern in this case and he pleads said doctrines as an estoppel in this action."

Mr. Carpenter alleges that upon the day that the supreme court gave its decision in his favor, August 9, 1886, the mayor and council of the city of Janesville passed the following order: "Permit Mr. Carpenter to build with F. Carpenter to drive in the line of the second and third row of piles extending down the river a hundred feet and in line with the current of said river, said piles to be driven from north and south. And when so placed permission is also given Edwin F. Carpenter to build a two-story wooden building, the side and ends of which shall be covered with sheet iron, the roof with tin; the said building to be 40 feet front on the south side of Milwaukee street by one hundred feet deep next to and adjoining the old post office building."

The answer denies emphatically that Rock river at the place in question is navigable for any purpose whatever, "not even for rowboats, motorboats or other craft, over which the place in question is in a millpond formed by a dam built across Rock river and within three-quarters of a mile from said defendant's place."

In the second paragraph of the charter containing the grant is the following: "As soon as Rock river shall be improved and rendered navigable to said dam, the owners of said dam shall construct a culvert or lock, not less than one hundred feet long between the gates, and not less than twenty-four feet wide in the clear of the chamber, for the passage of boats, having a draft of not less than six feet, and remain in force to the present time, the answer contends, the river having never been improved nor any lock built in the dam, known as the Mottard dam. Mr. Carpenter alleges that the plaintiff, but the legislative not granting the right to build the dam, "is estopped from now claiming that said river is a navigable stream and therefore unlawful to build in or over the same."

Mr. Carpenter refers to a second action brought against him by water power owners, following a decision of the supreme court in 1886 denying an injunction against him, in which it was again sought to restrain him from erecting a building over the river. The circuit court refused to grant the injunction, and upon appeal the supreme court concurred. Relying on these decisions, Mr. Carpenter went ahead with the expenditure of large sums of money in erecting the building over the river. The building was destroyed by fire on April 1, 1913.

Explains Jackman's Complaint. Referring to the complaint filed with the railroad commission by C. S. and C. W. Jackman, protesting against building over Rock river, Mr. Carpenter's answer alleges that the commission's finding was contrary to the evidence and without right and authority. The answer contends that C. S. and C. W. Jackman before filing the complaint, had prepared plans for building over Rock river adjacent to their property, and desiring to remove any doubt as to the legality of such a move filed the complaint with the commission. Consequently they are the real parties in interest in the commencement of the action in question.

It is stated that the state of Wisconsin, the plaintiff in this action, has authorized and permitted the building of a permanent obstruction across Rock river between the south state line and the city of Watertown, consisting of dams, wagon and railroad bridges.

Proposed Building an Improvement. The defendant alleges that "the building he (Carpenter) proposes to build will not in any way injure the water power, the use thereof in said river, or the flow of water in said river, and that the proposed building will improve the value of the adjacent property and all other property of the city of Janesville, and will furnish large revenue to the city, county and state for public purposes."

Two other actions brought by the city of Janesville against Carpenter in 1889 and 1893 are referred to in the 1886 decisions in both instances being in favor of Carpenter, the defendant. These cases presented, it is alleged, the identical points in controversy now pending.

The defendant asks for judgment dismissing the complaint, "declaring and affirming the right of this defendant to rebuild and maintain the structure he proposes building on his land in said Rock river, and perpetually restraining the officers of the state of Wisconsin and interfering with the from in any way enjoyment and use of the premises described, and that the said C. S. and C. W. Jackman, and their successors in title be forever barred from making any complaint to use and rights of this defendant to use and enjoy the premises herein described, and for costs and disbursements hereon.

The answer covers eighteen typewritten pages and is comprised of sixty-three paragraphs. Mr. Carpenter has retained Charles E. Pierce for counsel.

BARN IS PARTIALLY BURNED ON SUNDAY

Structure on Gardner Residence, Sutherland Avenue, Struck By Lightning During Storm.

Lightning set fire to the barn on the old John Comstock homestead, now occupied by John Gardner, 1026 Sutherland avenue, and the flames caused between four and five hundred dollars damage. This was the most severe damage in this city during the severe rain and electrical storms of Saturday and Sunday.

The top story of the barn, a large quantity of hay and other contents in this portion of the frame structure were totally destroyed. The lower floor is a partial loss, the firemen being able to check the flames before the building was completely lost.

A valuable stallion was taken from the burning barn a few minutes after the lightning struck one corner of the building, tearing open a hole in the roof and running along the upper beams setting the hay afire.

The fire department was forced to connect their one lead of hose at the corner of St. Mary's avenue and Hickory street, and the hose was laid in order to reach the fire. Despite the long lead of hose and the distance of the place from the pumping station, the pressure was sufficient for the needs. The lightning struck the barn a few minutes after three o'clock.

In other parts of the city minor damage was caused by the storm and lightning disturbances. Many fuses were blown out, and some of the motion picture houses, stores and homes were without electrical power for a few minutes, due to troubles at the power plants and with the fuses.

HOW HELEN KELLER "HEARD" CARUSO

Enrico Caruso singing to Helen Keller. Helen Keller, the world's most famous blind and deaf woman, placed her fingers on the lips and throat of Enrico Caruso and "heard" him sing the "Lament of Samson" from Saint-Saens' opera, "Samson and Delilah." Through the medium of her marvelous sensitive fingers the matchless voice of the great tenor was transmitted to her soul as she sat and listened. Her lips apart, her sightless eyes wet with tears, she whispered over and over again: "Wonderful, wonderful."

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND
OF DAISY DEAN

A few years ago he was seen often on the films and was a great favorite. He has just made his second appearance within a year, in "The Snowbird." He will appear oftener from now on.

The friends of James Cruze, who used to find delight in his pictures in the olden days, when he made frequent screen appearances, will be glad to know that he will be seen often in silent drama in the future than has been the case in the past year. He and his wife, Marguerite Snow, are both now with the forces, and he made his first appearance in "The Snowbird" a few days ago.

Mr. Cruze has been in motion pictures for more than nine years, and is perhaps the best known for his finished performance as the reporter in "The Million Dollar Mystery," a serial. Miss Snow was also in this serial, and it was while both were engaged by the company that a romance in real life began which resulted in their marriage.

Mr. Cruze has had an interesting and unusual career. As a boy he joined an Indian medicine company and toured the entire country. Later he formed a small stock company, producing both modern melodrama and Shakespearean productions. Afterward he appeared in many big stage productions, including "The Heart of Maryland," under the management of David Belasco.

MME. PETROVA TALKS ON "TRUE FEMINISM"
Mme. Petrova will give a series of her own poems at the Little Theater, New York, in the near future. The readings will be given on Sunday nights, and will continue for several weeks. In addition to the poems, Mme. Petrova will also give brief talks on some of her favorite topics, the first of which will be "The True Feminism." She has many new and novel views on this subject, and has contributed articles pertaining to feminism to the magazines in this country and in England. She is a literary woman of no mean ability, and has arranged to write a series of articles on feminism for a magazine.

Anna Q. Nilsson Plays Part Of "The Regeneration"

Anna Q. Nilsson, who plays the part of Mamie Rose in "The Regeneration," which great feature William Fox presents at the Beverly on Tuesday, has been a motion picture star for four years. She is one of the few who, through their remarkable ability and beauty, have been able to hold her position and remain a favorite with the public. Miss Nilsson is a statuesque blonde, with remarkably handsome features and an unusual personality.

She fits the part of Mamie Rose as though it had been written for her especially, and her emotional work

In this great picture is attracting unusual attention. No expense has been spared to make "The Regeneration" one of the strongest pictures that has ever been filmed. Under such a great director as R. A. Walsh, and with scenes and settings on which no cost was spared, with types from the Beverly that it took weeks and months to secure, and in fact with everything as nearly human as human ingenuity can make it, this picture it is predicted, will be an epoch in the film world. There are scenes of New York life that are too human and too perfect to describe by words. The part of Mamie Rose is taken by Anna Nilsson. Others to contribute to the success of the cast are Rockcliffe Follis, who became a star on Broadway his first year in the theatrical world; William Sheer, who has made millions of friends on the screen through his exceptionally fine character work; and thousands of others who go to make this picture the success that it is bound to have.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

"Twin Beds."

The remarkable appeal of "Twin Beds" lies in its naturalness, its witty dialogue, its marvelous slang, its clean theme and its hilarious situations, which follow each other with the rapidity of a Maxim-Nordfeldt in action. Salisbury Field and Margaret Mayo, the authors, disregarded the lure of the French farce, and kept to the wholesome boundaries prescribed by the American taste, and that they were wise in so doing is proved by the fact that Selwyn and company presented "Twin Beds" to crowded houses for exactly a year on Broadway.

The story is built upon the complications that can arise when three couples—one newly-wed, one engaged, and one on the point of celebrating a tenth anniversary of marriage, all comely and gregarious and nearly all jealous—live in a big metropolitan apartment house, and exchange visits, both by invitation and by mistake, at assorted hours of the day and night.

Unlike many farces, much of the humor of "Twin Beds" lies in the characterization. The far Italian tenor who has been elevated from a cabaret in Brooklyn, to $2,000 a night at the Metropolitan, by an Amazonian wife who never lets him forget it is one of the most engaging stage portraits seen in many a moon. So is the watchful wife. So, also, is the delectable little bride with a madness for making acquaintances, her outraged husband, who wants a peace and quiet in his home; the maid who obeys her orders with more valor than discretion; the fiancée who is suspicious beyond all words at the attentions bestowed on the bride by the man she is engaged to; and finally, the poor little man who is trying to get married without the intervention of a feminine typhoon.

Selwyn and company are sending an admirable cast of comedians to interpret this rollicking farce. The cast includes: Juliette Day, P. Paul Puccini, Marian Lord, J. Morrill Morrison, Edith Maxham, William Weston and Eleanor Wilton. "Twin Beds" will be presented at Myers Theatre tonight.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

Battling and battered Europe—as the camera saw it in the eastern and western theatres of war, will continue to have its usual presentation at the Myers Theatre May 19-21, Friday and Sunday. Wilbur H. Durbourough, who shows some of the scenes he witnessed in East Prussia and Poland while accompanying General Von Hindenburg on his historical drive against the Russians.

Mr. Durbourough recites his experience of the armies and is seen throughout the picture in the many positions he himself was placed during his experience with the German army.

One of the startling events pictured is a terrific charge of infantry against Fort Novo Georgievsk—the camera vision covering about two miles of ground and registering the action of the soldiers as they charge in sections—also depicting the soldiers in the trenches, showing a detachment of French soldiers drawing the fire of the Germans on the open field. The attacking force can be plainly seen exploding a clump of bushes, while the exploding shells from the enemy's guns are clearly visible.

A vast expanse of country faintly showing the irregular lines of trenches gives evidence of the tremendous activity in the dugouts.

"This Is the Life."

"This Is the Life," a Halton Powell offering with all that his trademark implies of excellence in musical farce comedy is an early underlined attraction at the Myers theatre on Saturday, May 19, matinee and night. It has brilliant, joyous, rousing music, songs that charm and that are easily sung and whistled; a plot that is consistent and filled to the brim with comedy; principals that can sing, dance and act; a chorus of pretty girls who sing, dance and wear clothes ahead of the model gowns that create a sensation in every city visited. They are the most startling ever seen on the stage; freakish they may be but the modistes say accurately forecast the styles in women's gowns for next year. Their design and combination of colors will make the ladies sit up and take notice. "This Is the Life" will keep you laughing from start to finish.

Telegrams in 1767.
Telegraphing by semaphore was invented by Richard Lovell Edgeworth in 1767 and was first regularly established by the French military authorities in 1794. The system was introduced into England the following year by Lord George Murray, and by its means the admiralty was placed within a few minutes of Portsmouth or Plymouth. The apparatus consisted of shutters placed on the top of towers built on commanding sites at intervals of from five to ten miles. Greenwich time at 1 o'clock daily was passed from London to Portsmouth and acknowledged commonly within three-quarters of a minute in clear weather.—London Mirror.

Heart and Home PROBLEMS

—By—
MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters may be addressed to
MRS. THOMPSON
in care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: How should we treat women with questionable characters? We meet them everywhere, at our church sewing circle, parties and on the street. We have discussed this subject at home, but our opinions differ greatly.

MRS. KNOW.

Give women of questionable character the benefit of the doubt. Many a life has been ruined because of gossip. Gossips have made unjust remarks about her simply because she was pretty and well liked by men. It is wrong to consider women in two classes, good and bad. Many good women go around looking for bad in others, and most socialized bad women have suffered so much that they seek goodness and beauty in others. Don't allow yourself to be the kind of woman who root out the bad in a person's character and talk it over and glory in it. Have faith in the nobility of human nature. Jesus believed Mary Magdalene to be good in spite of what she had done, and His faith in her made her good.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two girls seventeen years old. We are often asked by young men to go to dances and theaters, but we always have to refuse because we are not old enough. Our mother is very strict with us and we are not even allowed to attend a moving picture show. Don't you think we girls are old enough to have a little time of our own to do with as we please?

(2) Wherever we go our mother wants to go along. Of course we appreciate the advantage of having a mother, but do you think she is doing right by not letting us have a little enjoyment at least?

(3) What do you think of a young man who just met a girl at a dance and kisses her even if she tells him not to? Do you think this is a sign that he loves her?

(4) A cousin of ours is to be married this spring. What would be nice to give her that would not be too expensive?

LONELY BETTY AND SORROWFUL ANGELINA.

(1) A girl of seventeen is not old enough to show good judgment in the things she does. If your mother does not feel that you should go with boys, she is right. Wait until you are a little older and on the mean time try to show her that you are worthy of being trusted and she will know you to have a good time in your own way, if your way is good.

(2) Perhaps you have given your mother reason to think you cannot be trusted with boys. She is only looking out for what she considers your own good.

(3) It is a sign that he does not love her and does not respect her. There must be something wrong with the girl, or the man would not have dared kiss her. Protests amount to nothing if the girl does not mean them. A man who kisses a girl as that man did does not belong in respectable society.

(4) A pie knife, meat fork, gravy ladle, and a piece of cut glass would be appropriate and inexpensive.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am twenty-five years old and I have been friends with a girl ever since we were children. The other day a girl said to me that she thought my friend must be jealous of me or she wouldn't say the things about me that she does. This hurt my feelings very much. I cannot believe that my friend does say mean things about me because she does not seem to be that kind of a girl. What shall I do? Ask her if what I heard was true?

MARY.

Anyone who would tell anything so malicious would be capable of making it up. Do not pay any attention to the remark. It would hurt your friend to think you even listened to it.

"Young Widower." My column is not a matrimonial bureau. I do not know the young lady's address, and it will be impossible for me to learn of it.

Household Hints

STRETCHING CURTAINS.
English housewives use this method for stretching curtains. It is much easier than using the stretchers, and results in a fully as satisfactory. Stretch a clean line as tight as possible and have the clothes props washed free of dirt. Fold the curtains while wet, lengthwise, with opposite scallops together, placing a clean pin in each scallop (pair). Then insert a clean prop in each curtain. If this does not give the desired weight something may be hung on each end of the prop. Let hang until thoroughly dry.

BEHIND THE STOVE.
This is an easy and quick way to clean woodwork or tiles back of the stove. Put clean cloths in mop stick, have a pail of hot suds, put in one teaspoon of soda, dip in mop, let drain a little, and wash up and down, and across, rinse with cold water. This saves stooping and work can be done in half the usual time. Behind the stove and both tub can be reached easily.

THE TABLE.
Baked Lima Beans—Parboil one quart lima beans. Have ready a large cupful of strained tomatoes, well seasoned with onion juice, and butter, salt and a little sugar. Put a layer of beans in the bottom of your dish, then one of tomatoes. Proceed this way until the dish is full. Add a very little water. The top layer should be of tomatoes. Sprinkle with fine crumbs and butter. Cover closely. Bake for one and one-half hours. Then brown.

Curried Salmon With Carrots—To two cups thin white sauce add a slightly beaten egg and one teaspoon of curry powder. Then add a cup of diced cold boiled carrots and a teaspoonful of grated onion. Cook until the egg is set and add a can of salmon, freed from bones and skin and reheated. Serve with mashed potatoes or boiled rice.

Braised Veal—Take a piece of the shoulder weighing about five pounds. Have the bone removed and cut up the meat to make a firm. Put a piece of butter the size of half an egg, together with a few shavings of onion, into a kettle or stone crock and let it get hot. Salt and pepper the meat and put it into the kettle, cover it tightly and put it over a medium fire until the meat is brown on both sides, turning it occasionally. Then set the kettle back on the stove where it will simmer slowly for about two hours and a half. Before setting the meat back on the stove, see if the juice of the meat, together with the butter do not make gravy enough and if not put in about two tablespoonfuls of hot water. When the gravy is cold it will be like jelly. It can be served hot with hot meat, or cold with cold meat.

Dandelion and Spanish Onion Salad—Take two quart of dandelions which have been cleaned and well washed, and one-half of a Spanish onion. Pour over dandelion dressing made of equal parts of oil and vinegar, pepper and salt. Arrange the onion in garnish with slices of Spanish onion. This is a very healthy dish for early spring.

Cream Rice—Two eggs, one-half cup cold rice, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup whipped cream, one cup milk, one-half cup fruit, and one-half cup prune pulp, juice and rind of one-half lemon. Beat eggs, add sugar. Scald one cup of milk and pour over eggs. Place in double boiler and cook until thick, stirring constantly. While this is hot beat in one-half cup cold rice and rind and juice of lemon. When nearly cold add one-half cup whipped cream, nuts, prunes and set away to cool. Serve with a spoon of whipped cream on top of each dish.

Stale Cake Dessert—Cut cake about an inch thick and lay a layer in a dish. Spread over all good jelly, then another layer of cake, and pour over all fruit and sauce. Sprinkle with a little flavor added. Let stand till it is all soaked into cake. Then make a boiled custard of eggs and milk and pour over all.

Burprise Cake—Sponge cake baked in a round tin six peaches (either fresh or canned), one-fourth pint of whipping cream, chocolate frosting. Allow the cake to cool after baking, then cut off the top of the cake about one inch deep and set aside. Cut out the center of the lower half, leaving a wall both bottom and sides one inch thick. Line this with sliced peaches and fill in the center with the whipped cream slightly sweetened. Replace the top of the cake and cover all with a boiled chocolate frosting. Serve from the table. Should be eaten with forks.

Don't Live in the Kitchen—Emancipate yourself from kitchen drudgery by learning the food value and culinary uses of Shredded Wheat Biscuit. You can prepare a most wholesome, nourishing meal in a few moments by heating a few Shredded Wheat Biscuits in the oven to restore crispness; then cover with berries or other fruits and serve with milk or cream.

PROFESSOR IS GOING OUT TO LEARN MORE ABOUT MOHICANS THAN COOPER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Cooperstown, N. Y., May 15.—J. Fenimore Cooper wrote "The Last of the Mohicans," but it wasn't the last. Armed with spade and pickaxe, Professor Warren K. Moorhead of Phillips Andover academy and his expedition started out today to learn more about the Mohicans than Cooper ever wrote. The party, which includes Alanson Skinner, formerly of the American Museum of Natural History of New York and now of the George Hay Museum of American Indians; Ernest O. Sudden of Orland, Me., and several others left today to examine the shores of Lake Ontario, where the Indians of Cooper lived centuries ago.

The party plans to go down the Susquehanna river in light skiffs, exploring the banks and adjoining fields which were at one time the hunting grounds of the Mohicans. The expedition will work up the tributaries of the Susquehanna, including the Unadilla river which is rich in Indian lore and that many facts valuable to the history of the American Indian will be learned.

SHORT SKIRT WILL BE WORN THIS FALL

Abbreviated Skirt Will Be Worn This Fall Says Fashion Experts—"It is Most Pleasing to the Eye."
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Cincinnati, Ohio, May 15.—The short skirt will continue to be worn next fall, according to reports of the state committee of the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' association at the annual convention here today.

In connection with short skirts the report said: "Its smartness and youthful appearance, makes its popularity universal." According to the report, the fall suits will consist of three varieties—the plain tailored type, the sport type, and the more dressy variety. The plain type will be either single or double breasted, with some flare to the skirt of the coat. It will be from finger lengths to slightly longer.

The sport type will be varied by plaits and shirings at waist line held in with belts with high collars and simple sleeves. The length of coat will range between finger type to point half way between finger tip and knee length.

The dressier suits will have large collars, the shoulders, cap effect when opened and laid back high cuffs and fancy cuffs of the belt variety. Some will have vest fronts.

Trimnings will be diversified, fur edgings, fur, velvet, tailor braids and embroidery will be most prominently used.

Roman Sugar.
Honey was the only sweetening ingredient known in Europe till the last days of the Roman empire, when sugar was introduced under the description of "an Indian salt, in color and form like the common salt, but in taste and sweetness like honey." It came with the spices and other rarities brought by oriental traders, but nothing was known of the production prior to the eleventh century. The crusaders learned to like it, and the taste which they encouraged was soon partly gratified by the Arabs and Moors, who planted sugarcanes in Rhodes, Cyprus and Sicily and afterward in Spain and Portugal.

WOMEN who do their own work usually find it hard to keep their hands soft and white. The reason is, they use ordinary yellow soap which almost always contains free alkali and other harsh materials.

As soon as women begin to use Ivory Soap, not only for bath and toilet but for fine laundry work, dishes, woodwork, windows and general cleaning, they no longer are troubled with unsightly, smarting hands.

Ivory Soap is no more harmful to a tender skin than pure, clear, sparkling water.

GINGLES' JINGLES

JERRY.

There are many good conductors and not dead ones—no, not much kind, good-hearted human fellows who are not there with the touch; what the company has coming they will get, they take no chance, one of such is our friend Jerry, some conductor on some branch. He treats all his patrons kindly and the railroad gets its fare, he's your friend he'll grant you favors, but you must be on the square; bums they say don't bother Jerry, should he stop and turn them loose in the wilds through which he travels, that forsooth, would cook their goose. But he's right and he's obliging, of that I got ample proof, when a lady told him sadly, as she lapsed the old coach roof, "Mornin', Jerry, I am headed for the graveyard near your track." Jerry said, "I'll stop the train there." They pulled by, he made them back. As he helped her with her baggage, as he bowed her from the train, Jerry thought he'd ease her sadness, thought he'd calm her mental strain, so he said, "We all must face it. Some close relative I fear?" She said, "No, my sister Susie lives not very far from Link Gingles here."

What She Wanted.
"Ma wants a package of dye and she wants a fashionable color," said the little girl of a druggist. "A fashionable color!" echoed the pharmacist. "What does she want it for, eggs or clothes?" "Well," replied the girl, "the doctor says ma has stomach trouble and ought to diet. And ma says if she has to dye it she might as well dye it a fashionable color."

Close to the Millennium.
This will never be the right kind of a world until people recognize that every nation is entitled to as fair treatment as any other nation.

Marrying a Butterfly

"Now, I'll go in the house and you ring and pretend that you have come to spend the evening with me." Ethel ran off as delighted as a child with the pretense.

Ralph dutifully rang the bell, wondering why he could not summon the thrill with which he used to wait for her answer to his summons. She came dimpling and smiling as of yore and he waited for her to poached himself for his coldness.

"I knew you would be hungry," began Ralph, "and I have a cozy chafing dish supper all ready in the dining room. The electric toaster and copper chafing dish were in active service, and he soon was sipping the fragrant and heating slices of toast, while she mixed the cheese and milk for the rabbit.

"I hope I shall have as nice a chafing dish for a wedding present," Ethel teased him on carrying out her pretense.

"After we are married," began Ralph, gaily joining in, "we will have regular meals cooked by my little wife. Chafing dish suppers are all right for unmarried people, but married folks have to have real and get hungry and need regular rationing."

"Yes, I hope we will have a good cook," said Ethel, getting pink to her ears.

"It's never safe to depend on cooks," continued Ralph, "and I hardly the good ones get married and the bad ones leave without notice. Besides a servant soon knows whether her mistress is a good housekeeper or not and acts accordingly."

"When I marry, I do not expect to do the housework," said Ethel aloofly.

"Not if you can get help; but you must be ready to step into the breach and keep the machinery running between maids. I hear of a family that had two servants. One going and the other coming. Ethel did not laugh at the joke. Instead she took out her handkerchief and wiped her eyes.

"It is a great mistake for any woman to feel above keeping a good home," Ralph pretended not to notice the handkerchief.

"If you are looking for someone to do your housework, you had better look elsewhere," said the leary little creature, letting her rarebit burn in the distress of mind.

"That's true, Ethel," Ralph reached over and turned out the blaze. "I do not want my last chance of refreshment to go up in smoke. I had a boasty dinner at that hotel, and you and I had a dinner as I did, and I am not making a fuss about it either," flared Ethel.

"It is different if you can spend your time swinging in the hammock, retreating Ralph. "I had to work today, and work hard, too, and a man can't keep that up on smiles and kisses."

"It is a pity you had not talked that way when you were really coming to see me. Then you said you wanted 'just me,' with my sunny smile to make your home a heaven," she gulped down a sob.

"No more I would," Ralph looked at the flushed face and tear-filled eyes. "But wouldn't it be possible to have you and have a little efficiency thrown in? Anybody that could get up so dainty a little spread could learn to cook if she set her mind to it."

"I am not planning on being a household drudge," Ethel rose and left the room.

"That is just the trouble," grumbled Ralph, helping himself to the rabbit. "She doesn't want to learn. She doesn't care how mighty uncomfortable she makes me, just so she is free to do nothing."

Letters may be addressed to Wm. A. BRADY, M. D., in care of the Gazette
HOW TO LIVE WITH BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

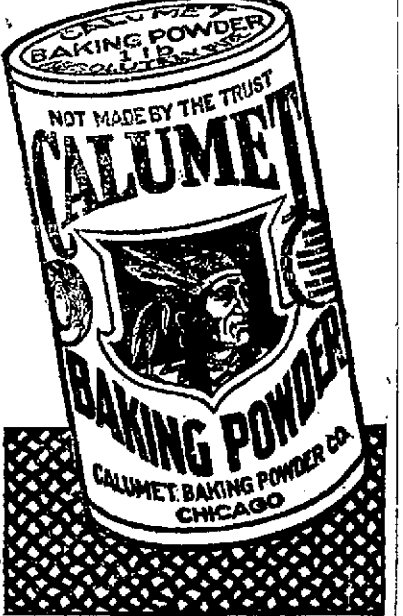

He had an excellent family history and generally the best of health. He had a good practice. But late he was troubled considerably by dyspepsia, for which being a lawyer and therefore competent to treat himself—though he wouldn't defend himself if he were being sued for conspiracy—he tried one remedy after another and sampled various impressive styles of treatment. In fact he did about everything but consult a doctor.

He was 46 years of age, and had lost flesh and had grown pale the last few months. Then, too, there were frequent headaches, come to think of it, yes, he was kind of short-winded recently—now that he was reminded of it. Also his eyesight wasn't so good as formerly, and glasses fitted by the jeweler hadn't improved it.

The heart sounds were louder than normal. The apex of the heart was making it up, but the doctor left that to the snap of the closing aortic valve was altogether too snappy. Then, round behind, there were fine rales or crackling sounds, for which the lawyer breathed of course he had his shirt off by this time, not just pulled open at the neck, movie-fashion. The ankles were a mere trifle puffy, nothing to speak of, but the doctor just noted the fact. There was nothing in the abdomen but too much meat.

The blood pressure was 150 millimeters, not half bad for a lawyer. High enough, however, to cause rejection in an auto life insurance test. The urinalysis showed a specific gravity of 1011, a faint trace of albumin, and under the microscope a few hyaline casts, the patient mentioned frequency at night.

Here is the doctor's impression: Oedema (or "dropsy") of lungs from passive congestion. The nocturnal frequency might be from prostatic trouble, not uremia or nephritis. Microscopic suggested nephritis. Snapping closure of aortic valve might mean high blood pressure in arteries, arteriosclerosis, excited heart, nephritis, or any of these again. Enlarged heart might be a sign of arteriosclerosis, athletic training, extreme hard work (physical exertion) or nephritis. Enlarged heart once more hinted nephritis.

Well, just ten years later there were entered upon the lawyer's case report these data: Found unconscious in bed, a knot of short-winded days later. Autopsy showed chronic nephritis (Bright's disease) and hypertrophied (enlarged) heart.

And for just ten years that lawyer looked at his doctor's advocacy of vegetarian diet for a hard working lawyer.

Case for Glandular Therapy.
A girl, aged five, appears the size and mental equal of a child of two years. She has had rickets for two years. She eats heartily and sleeps much of the time. But she doesn't grow, mentally or physically. Can you suggest anything to do for her?

Answer—Yes. Ask your doctor if he thinks a course of treatment with thyroid gland extract isn't worth while. Six weeks' trial of it would not do any harm, at least, if the doctor could see her regularly each week.

Specialism Running Wild.
Catarrhal deafness for several years in left ear led me to consult an ear specialist last December. He removed some adenoid tissue in the throat or back of nose, and treated me for months with instruments for inflating the Eustachian tubes. Later grew deaf in the right ear. And all the treatment seems to leave me as bad off as ever. Sometimes I wonder if diet, clothing, etc., have anything to do with my trouble, or if climate would offer any hope for me.

Answer—All these things your family doctor might have advised, since the specialist failed to do so. Send us a stamped envelope.

TEACHER AT MONROE GRADE SCHOOL RESIGNS POSITION
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Monroe, Wis., May 16.—Miss Emmen Van Wagenen, teacher in the Monroe public schools for almost the past half century, has handed in her resignation to the local school board. Miss Van Wagenen has taught continuously in the eighth grade at the Churchill building for the past forty-eight years, a record, perhaps, which no other teacher in this community can boast of. She has taught whole families in the city, including father, mother and children, having taught as high as three generations in some cases.

THAT LITTLE MEMBER.
We drifted into a talk the other night about mistakes and someone said, "If you could undo the mistakes in your whole life, what would they be?"

That is what you might call a leading question, isn't it, one that most of us would hesitate to answer fully? But I was glad it was asked, because when I put it to myself I discovered a fact that interested me—namely, that two out of the three mistakes I would give the most to undo were sins of the tongue.

Ask yourself that same question and see if you do not find the tongue the greatest offender.

A Motto for a Club or Class.
"Of the unspoken word thou art master, but the spoken word thou art a slave." A class of high-school girls asked me for a motto the other day, and I suggested that. I do not know of any better reminder for a group of young people.

To be sure I hate secretive folks, but so few are they.

Most of us, when we are hesitating between making a confidence and withholding it, end by making it.

Don't!

Nine Times Out of Ten You Will Be Sorry.
For, nine times out of ten, when the mood of self-revelation that made you so free spoken has passed, you want to recall that confidence, and alas! all the king's horses and all the king's men cannot get that spoken word back again.

On the other hand, if by any chance you should regret not speaking, you still have it in your power to speak. Instead of an irrevocable past, you have an open future.

The same is true of angry words and unkind accusations. We almost never regret not saying them, whereas, over and over again, we regret having spoken them. Bitter words are hard to forget. Even when the quarrel has been made up, we still remember the harsh things our

STATE SOCIETY HEAD GIVES ADDRESS LAST EVENING AT CHURCH

Alexander C. Petrie, Head of Society of Friends, Gives Address at Presbyterian Church Last Night.

"The criminal is God's charge," said Dr. Alexander C. Petrie, secretary and superintendent of the Wisconsin Society for the Friendless, in his address last evening at the First Presbyterian church.

The inmates of any penal institution are human and just as deserving of the protection of society as the rest of the people, only something has happened to them, and they have been taken into custody for the protection of society. He is not a person as everyone shrinks from a person, as everyone shrinks from a person. The average Wisconsin citizen as he passes by the state prison or other state institutions, is proud of the massive structures, but not of the inmates. They are two hundred and thirty persons in the different state institutions and nearly sixteen thousand, taking in all the county and charitable institutions.

The work of our society is not prison reform, because the institutions of our state are of the best in the country, but the aim of our organization," said Dr. Petrie, "is to reform prisoners and prevent people from becoming state prisoners. Although we do some work in the prisons, we have our greatest task teaching the wayward people to become respectable citizens.

The prison offers many kinds of legitimate labor for its prisoners, all under the strictest kind of discipline. The greater share of these persons have never heard of such a thing as discipline, but the conditions that surround the state institutions offer better chances where it can be taught.

The home is the foundation of all breakdowns, both physically and morally, or practically all the persons sent to the prison are from the home. When the home fails in its great task to teach discipline, it fails in its bringing up of the children. Where this is lacking, you will find a lawless community. It has been found after a thorough investigation that most of the boys at the Waukesha reformatory have been adopted children or have had a poor upbringing. When they have been adopted it will be found that after a short length of time they are left to themselves, not turned out of home, but their bringing up has been neglected. Where the religious training is left out of the child's life it will be found that they step to the downward path much faster. Seven percent of the inmates of the Waukesha institution have had religious training while ninety-three percent have not had any at all.

Cigarettes or the use of tobacco in any form, is another way of breaking down the youth and starting him on the downward path. On an inquiry at an institution at Red Wing, Minnesota, it was found that every one of the two hundred boys lodged there had been addicted to the use of cigarettes or tobacco. The same is true at Waukesha, and at St. Charles, Illinois, where there are between five and six hundred boys, the same answer was given by these answers it is good that tobacco tends to break down one's life.

"If this is true, why then do we let such things go on. People who raise stock on farms would not allow any one to feed their animals that would destroy their value, but day after day, we allow tobacco and other stimulants to be sold to our children. Licenses are allowed for these things which are breeders of crime and then people grow under the heavy burden of taxation which is used for the upkeep of the state prisons, insane asylums and homes for the feeble minded. The aim of the Wisconsin Society for the Friendless is to get the hand on the beginning of the product and prevent its spreading."

COUNTY BREEDERS MEET HERE IN JUNE

Live Stock Association to Hold Big Meeting and Banquet—Will Elect New Officers.

Members of the promotion committee of the Rock County Live Stock Breeders' association met Saturday afternoon at the office of the Janesville Commercial club and made tentative arrangements to hold the annual meeting at the hotel of the association on June 3. Prof. A. W. Hopkins, editor of the farm bulletins of the college of agriculture at the university, will be the speaker at the meeting. The banquet of the association is to be held in the auditorium. Three hundred, at least, will be in attendance.

Previous to the banquet, a business meeting will be held. Officers and directors for the year will be elected at this time. It was expected at the meeting Saturday afternoon that new ideas for the advancement of the association would be announced at this time.

James Van Etta, Lima, president of the association, J. H. Fisher of Evansville, and Peter V. Kuhn of this city, attended the meeting Saturday afternoon. Today it was announced that the date of Saturday evening, June 3, was only tentative because of the annual banquet of the Rock county. A. M. A. coming during the same week. From this fact it was thought that many members of the Breeders' association will also attend the other banquet, it might be advisable to hold the Rock county's gathering at a later date. Tuesday evening, June 27, was suggested, but for the present the date of June 3 is planned for.

PUT IN STEEL POLES TO HOLD TROLLEY WIRES

Long steel poles were placed in the sidewalk on the four corners of Main and Milwaukee street intersection by the Janesville Traction company on Saturday. These poles are for the purpose of supporting the trolley wires holding the trolley as the wooden posts are to be removed in other places smaller steel posts will be erected, where the wires will not be attached to the building. In the majority of cases the property owners had no objections to the traction company connecting their wires to the poles.

DANISH WEST INDIES, COVETED BY GERMANY AND HITHERTO SPURNED BY UNCLE SAM, MAY SOON BE AMERICAN COLONIES

The strategic position of the Danish West Indies; insert, Constantin Brun. President Wilson practically has concluded negotiations for the purchase of the Danish West Indies at a tentative price of $5,000,000, according to well-founded reports. A treaty between Denmark and the United States providing for the transfer of the little islands in the Antilles has been drafted by Secretary of State Lansing and Constantin Brun, the Danish minister here. The islands are coveted by Germany. Negotiations for the purchase of the islands by the United States have been made twice before, but in both instances the U. S. senate refused to ratify the proposal.

THE PEARLS

By LOUISE OLIVER.

Sylvester Smith was a college friend of Frederick, a senior in the latter's freshman year and much older. But they had had a life-saving chance one time—either Frederick had saved Sylvester or the other way round—but it had cemented the friendship, so it doesn't matter.

Since then Sylvester Smith had been a frequent visitor at the Prices'—and Phyllis was afraid of him, although he was big and handsome and very nice, indeed. He had sent candy to Phyllis at school until the string of little brass spoons that came in each box reached from the chandelier to the floor and Phyllis was confronted by dyspepsia. But she knew that he thought of her only as Fred's little sister, and it rankled. The worst of it was that graduating and long dresses and just lately her coming out party had not made a bit of difference to him. He seemed to think her as much of a child as ever, and it was humiliating, to say the least, to have him happen here just now.

Phyllis sat deliberately silent while the others related harrowing incidents of train robberies and hapless maidens who lost things.

"But men can be robbed as easily as girls," she cut in finally, "and they are, too."

Sylvester came to the rescue—that is, Phyllis thought he was going to when he began. He looked so big and capable, standing with his back to the blazing logs, his hands behind him.

"I do not believe you need to be alarmed about Phyllis taking her jewelry with her. But, after all, Mr. Price, I have a better plan. I am going to Providence myself on Friday on some insurance business and shall be delighted to play messenger. I will take Phyllis' pearls if you like."

"The very thing," nodded Mrs. Price approvingly.

"Bully," commended Frederick. "That is a fine idea," assented Mr. Price.

Phyllis fung out of the room. She had been betrayed.

Phyllis took the Friday morning train. Frederick said "Good-by" as the train pulled out of the station. At the same moment, a man catapulted on to the platform at the opposite end of the car. Still panting from his exertion, he glanced at the section numbers and dropped himself into the seat directly in front of Phyllis, without noticing her. But Phyllis had a distinct shock when she recognized Sylvester Smith.

A sudden suspicion dawned upon her. "I will bet a nickel some of my blessed family asked him to look after me." Then, after a few minutes she decided that he was making no effort to locate her. He was evidently absorbed in a book.

"Very well, then, I shall just exactly not let on that I am—" Phyllis caught her breath and sat up very straight. Thrown over the back of his own seat was the man's overcoat folded wrong side out and a fat, interesting-looking wallet was projecting an inch or so from a pocket.

Phyllis giggled. Then, making sure that no one was watching, she changed her seat to the one facing her. She laid her head against the overcoat and, pretending to arrange her hair, drew the wallet deftly from its resting place and slid it into her bag.

On Saturday night the Linsters were giving a ball in honor of Phyllis. All day Sylvester had not appeared. He came, wild eyed and excited, just as the guests were arriving. A servant showed him into the smoking room, and Phyllis, beautiful but jewel-less, came to life there.

"Phyllis," he cried, "I have lost them."

"Not the pearls!" she protested. "Yes. They were stolen, I think, on the train. I have hunted all night and all day. The police haven't a clue. There seems to be no hope. I had them with most of my money in my wallet. The whole business is gone. What will you think of me?"

Phyllis looked at him silently a moment. Her head was very high and his was bowed with dismay. Her heart was beating wildly, but on her lips was a little triumphant smile. Here was this big, strong, dominating masculine afraid of "the baby." She wanted to kiss him and slap him at the same time.

"Well," she said finally, with a sigh. "I guess it cannot be helped." Then, impulsively: "Let's ask the fortune teller. They have one tonight in a tent in the conservatory. Maybe she will give us a clue."

Sylvester was puzzled. He had expected a storm of tears. "But I cannot stay in these clothes," he protested.

"Oh, yes, you can. Jimmy Linster will take you upstairs to his room and rig you up. Meet me in the conservatory in half an hour. I will send Jimmy in now."

The fortune teller was not busy when the domino and the Goose Girl came hand in hand to learn their fortune. "Ask her where the jewels are," whispered the Goose Girl, after the usual preliminaries. The fortune teller—a pretty girl with white powdered hair—looked sagely into a crystal ball and said positively, "Out in the garden under the snow at the base of the sundial."

There they found the wallet and something else, too.

CHICAGO WILL HOLD BIG DEMONSTRATION FOR PREPAREDNESS

Monster Parade and Patriotic Rally Will Be Held Probably During Week of Republican Convention.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Chicago, May 15.—A call will be issued today by William Mather Lewis, secretary of the Illinois Naval League, to business and professional men, officials of commercial organizations and civic associations to formulate plans for a preparedness demonstration to be held in Chicago similar to the one in which 146,000 persons paraded in New York Saturday.

Tentative dates suggested for the Chicago demonstration are June 10, during the national convention week, and July 4th. The earlier date is meeting with favor, as it is thought that such a demonstration at the time of the great convention being held in the city would have considerable effect on politicians and other visitors from throughout the country.

The Chicago rally it is termed, will be representative of the middle west, and word has been received from St. Louis, Milwaukee, Cleveland and other cities that they are in favor of such a plan.

The demonstration will consist of a great parade, a patriotic rally and orations by speakers of national fame. The leaders in the movement feel that at least 200,000 persons would be in the parade, and it is stated Chicago employers have already agreed to allow their employees a full holiday for the demonstration.

TWO KILLED IN NEW YORK SPEED RACE ON SATURDAY: RICHENBACHER IS WINNER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
New York, May 15.—Carl Limberg was instantly killed and his mechanic, R. Falotini, was so badly injured that he died within a few minutes, in the thirty-third mile of the Metropolitan trophy race of 100 miles at the Sheepshead Bay speedway Saturday. Eddie Richenbacher, in a Maxwell, won the event and the $2,000 purse in 1:33:31, an average of 96.23 miles an hour.

"What's your opinion of Bommas-ter?" "Well, when I first met him, he impressed me as being a leader of men, a ten-thousand-volt human dynamo, a clarion-voiced czar who would brook no opposition; but when I met him the second time, in his office, I sized him up for a pusillanimous mouse." "Where did you meet him the first time?" "On the telephone."

LOOK AT "GIANTS" CLIMBING FROM RUT

Beat Cubs and Win Fifth Straight Game Sunday at Chicago By Score of 6 to 4.

New York won its fifth straight game on Sunday by defeating Chicago, 6 to 4. Three homers were made during the game, and two of these by Doyle, in the first inning, and by Robertson in the third, while two Giants wore on the bases, gave the visitors a commanding lead and they played perfect ball behind Tesreau, who pitched his best in the pinches. The other homer was made by Schulte in the ninth. Benton replaced Tesreau after one was out in the ninth and a man on base. He struck out Williams and Zimmerman also fanned when he allowed Rigler to call the third strike without an attempt to hit the ball. The decision around the fire of some of the spectators, who threw water and cushions at the pitcher as he went to the clubhouse. He left the park unattended and no further violence was attempted. Manager Rinker played his first game this year.

The biggest crowd of the season greeted the Giants, despite a heavy rain of the morning and a cloud covered sky. A Gordon of spectators lined the field four or five deep and caused ground rules, giving two base hits to drives in the crowd.

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

That Ted Meredith is one of the most versatile runners the sport has ever known is certain. Recently in a dual meet against Dartmouth he not only won the quarter under 50 seconds, but took first place in the 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash in fast time. Meredith did 10 1-5 seconds for the 100 and 22 seconds for the 220. Yet somebody said early last winter that Meredith was going back. It is reported he ran the fastest quarter mile ever stepped on a circular track in the Pennsylvania relay when he covered the last lap against the Harvard four, though he will never get real credit for that performance, no matter how good it was.

Umpire Billy Evans, baseball's best umpire, says Cleveland has a real ball club, one that will give an excellent account of itself, or he's away off in his reckoning. And Billy ought to know, for he's been with the Indians in all of their games except the series at St. Louis.

Ten years ago this spring Eddie Collins left Columbia University to join the Philadelphia Athletics. Now history may repeat itself if Bob Watt, captain of the Columbia varsity nine, signs a Mackinnon contract and makes good as did Collins. Watt wants to play for Columbia until his college career ends next month. Collins and Watt both entered Columbia. The former was short stop while Watt is playing second base. Collins went to the Athletics to replace Harry Murphy. Watt is needed to understudy Lagoe. In twenty games last season Watt batted .389 and fielded 1000. He is going at the same gait this spring.

Banging a bird on the wing with a batted baseball is the trick turned last week by Acres, catcher for the Howard's Grove (Virginia) team. In the third inning of a game with Mount, Acres drove a hot liner over third base. An English sparrow, sweeping across the field, was brought down.

Great Britain's smallest champion, Johnny White, holder of the fly-weight (100 pound) title, like Jess Willard, learned to box while touring with a circus and to replace Harry Murphy. Watt is needed to understudy Lagoe. In twenty games last season Watt batted .389 and fielded 1000. He is going at the same gait this spring.

Eight ex-Feds are hitting .300 or better in the National league, but only one in the American and he has been in but half a dozen games. If this dope proves anything the fan is welcome to it.

Cincinnati claimed Outfielder Joe Connely of the Boston Braves on waivers, along with Pitcher Elmer Knetzer, but President Tener halted the deal until the Reds disposed of another player to make room for him, as Manager Herzog already had twenty-one men on his list.

Steve Yerkes, one of the least rosy work for the ex-Feds is doing better work for the Chicago Cubs than all of his more highly-touted team-mates. He is outbating Benny Kauff and is putting up a pretty fair fielding game. The stuff he learned with the Boston Red Sox has not been forgotten.

The Cincinnati Reds got within the twenty-one player limit by discovering that catcher Emil Finn had an easel case that made him qualify for the disabled list and by turning back Outfielder Kenneth Williams to the Spokane club, from which he came. There was some surprise that Williams was waived out of all leagues above Class B, for he looked like a pretty good player. He certainly is a better man than some of the athletes performing on certain Class A clubs that can be mentioned—where the club owners too, are assuring the fans they are willing to spend millions to strengthen.

Other American league clubs in the past have complained of the "army gray" color of the Fenway park background and something is going to be done about it, say batters who lose the ball when facing Red Sox pitchers at some. So the advantage lies in the fact that their pitchers are all fast hurlers and the ball is on the batter before he can see it.

GAME WITH MONROE PREVENTED BY RAIN

Next Sunday the Cardinals Play Fast Madison Team at Association Park Diamond

Rain, and then some more rain, and still more rain, prevented the opening game to be played at the Association diamonds Sunday afternoon when the Jamesville Cardinals and the Monroe Pirates were to have clashed. Now the fans will have to wait until the twenty-first, when the Cardinals are scheduled to cross bats with the fast Madison Fauterbach team.

When the rain came down in torrents early Sunday morning, it looked certain that the ball game would be impossible. Acting quickly, the game was called off, the Monroe team told not to come and the Chicago players telegraphed to spend a less profitable Sunday at home. Later in the morning the weather men started kidding somebody by turning off the faucet and bringing out the sun. In the afternoon it would have been possible to hold a game, although the diamond was in an excellent condition to give brave players a mud bath of good Rock county loam, guaranteed to have medical value. Just about the time, the fans were repenting the fact that the game had been called off, the weather man got grouchy again and tipped the double bucket over at about the time when "Denny" Blake should have been up to bat, with two on the bases, and the score tied.

About the same lineup will be retained for the Madison game next Sunday. If weather conditions spoil the game next Sunday the fans threaten all dire forms of homicide and violent deeds, even to a "necktie" party to the Madison Hat citizens who control the weather meet. "Turkeyneck" McWaters, the Chicago umpire, was the only one of the baseball delegation to come to Jamesville for the game, and had their been a contest the fans would have seen a real official in action.

The Memory Machine.

Amnesia, or loss of memory, is chiefly interesting to the psychologists as throwing some light on the nature of memory itself. A perfect act of memory consists of three distinct acts—preservation or fixation of certain states of the nerve cells, reproduction of these and, perhaps most remarkable of all, recognition of them as reproductions in their relations. Morbid states of the memory may refer to any of these phases of an act which is as marvelous as anything in nature. There are about 3,000,000,000 nerve cells in the surface of the human brain. They never die in health, and they are never replaced or added to. This is memory's machine.

How He Fooled Her.

One day mother left my little brother with a neighbor while she went shopping. When she returned he was telling her what he had for lunch, and in conclusion he said: "She poured water in my cup before she poured the tea, but I saw her do it and I fooled her 'cause I just drank as far down as the water!"—Chicago Tribune.

AMERICAN BIRDMAN IN HUNT FOR VILLA

While following the saw-saw trail through the British Isles Willie defeated more than 100 opponents.

Fielder Jones, new manager of the St. Louis Browns, says that he has a good team in the making, and expects to be in the first division all season. Among the pitchers he must depend on are Eddie Plank, whom he characterizes as the best left-hander in the business, and Carl Weiland.

SERIOUS PROBLEM TO HOUSE PEOPLE FOR G. O. P. MEET

Chicago Scourrying to Find Accommodations for Republicans and Women to Attend Conventions

FIGURES OF CONVENTION ATTENDANCE.

Delegates attending the Republican convention	985
Alternates attending the Republican convention	985
Delegates attending Progressive convention	700
Alternates attending Progressive convention	700
Officials of both conventions (including sergeants at arms, clerks, pages, reporters, telegraph operators)	2,000
Women attending the equal suffrage demonstration	25,000
Visitors attending conventions	100,000

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Chicago, Ill., May 15.—Hotel managers today are attempting to solve the problem of housing approximately 150,000 transients expected to attend the Republican and Progressive national conventions and the great suffrage demonstration to be held here June 7. This is the largest number of strangers that has visited Chicago since the World's Fair in 1893.

Already every available room in the large hotels has been reserved, and it seems that accommodations in second class and smaller hostels will be at a premium. In fact, managers of the "big five" of Chicago's hotels will not reserve another room, stating that they are holding them "for the usual run of business."

Although they maintain that the rates have not been increased, the officials of three hostels, the La Salle, Congress and Sherman House, have reserved the right to "double or triple up the rooms if necessary."

The same rule will be applied probably at the Auditorium.

Four hundred rooms have been reserved at the Blackstone for months, the rates ranging from $5 to 10. No reservations have been allowed for headquarters here.

Officials smilingly admit that 800 rooms of the Congress have "gone" at $5 a head; the La Salle has been asked for 600 rooms at $2.50 and $5 a person. Both have a few hundred rooms which they allege they will hold for their "regular guests."

The Auditorium, officials say, has been entirely sold out. There are 400 rooms in all, $5 and $10 being asked. Colonel Roosevelt will make his headquarters here, having closed an option on the three upper floors. Other hostels like the Morrison, Victoria, Kaiserhof, Chicago Beach, Stratford and Palmer House have been deluged with applications for lodgings.

Camp Near Lake.

Officials of the Illinois Equal Suffrage league, who will conduct a monster parade coincident with the convention, may have to pitch camp on the lake front to accommodate the 25,000 delegates attending from all over the country.

They have been refused permission by the park board to use the municipal pier for lodgings. The women will march from the loop to the Coliseum, the scene of the Republican convention, equipped with signs and banners demanding an insertion of a plank in the G. O. P. platform for equal suffrage.

The G. O. P. and the Moose local committees have been busy putting the finishing touches on their preparations for the convention. The Republicans opened their headquarters at the Coliseum this week.

The building will be decorated in gala fashion. The speakers' stand will be in the south end of the building.

Arrangements have been completed to accommodate 11,000 people. The press will occupy the first 700 stairs encircling the speakers' platform. The 985 delegates will follow and beyond them will be seated as many alternates. The rear end of the main floor and the balconies will take care of the spectators.

James B. Preston, head of the press gallery in the senate, arrived here today from Washington and laid out the final plans for the Auditorium Theatre, the stamping grounds of the Progressives.

This building will hold 4,000. The speaker's chair will be placed on the stage, which has been lengthened and

WEST VIRGINIAN WOULD BE SENATOR

Howard Sutherland, Republican congressman-at-large from West Virginia, probably will be nominated for senator by the Republicans of that state to oppose Senator Chilton, who will be renominated by the Democrats. Sutherland is a lawyer and is fifty-one years of age.

widened to be able to hold 250 seats for the press in front of the speaker. About 500 seats will be embarked in the rear and in the wings for spectators.

Seating Arrangements.

Behind the press seats will be 700 delegates and as many alternates. The balconies will accommodate the spectators.

Fred Upham, chairman of the local convention committee of the G. O. P., has been given 2,000 seats which are called "the mazuma tickets." In other words these pasteboards will have to be sold for $100,000 worth which will pay the convention expenses.

Three-fifths of the amount already has been subscribed. On the other hand, George F. Porter is asking $25 a seat to pay the expenses of the Moose convention.

Sergeant-at-Arms Stone will have 2,000 assistants at the G. O. P. convention, besides the help of 250 of "Chicago's finest," headed by Assistant Chief of Police Herman Schuetzler.

There will be 1,000 sergeants-at-arms at the Progressive convention. Police ambulances will be ready and in attendance at all times, as well as Red Cross corps and two full companies of the fire department.

Oscar Moos, the trusted treasurer of the Fairy Grotto, is the one who violated his neutrality today by taking French leave. The leading mystery in ever neighborhood is how some folks get in the newspapers so much.
